THE WOMAN I AM NOW:

The last 30 plus years have change me; my way of thinking and my actions. I have come to know what it means to be selfless, grateful and compassionate. These changes did not happen overnight. With hard work and determination I strove to not only improve myself, which was desperately needed, but to help improve the community I reside in along with my peers. Through education, I have developed the passion for helping others to achieve their personal goals.
